Bay Tech plat accepted, court battle expected

BY D.C. HARVILL
The Bay St. Louis City Council Wednesday night adopted a special ordinance accepting the final plat for the high technology business park proposed for property on St. Charles Street by Bay Technical Associates, and validating the zoning change made for the property on January 19, 1988.

The council accepted the restrictive covenants placed on the proposed development as agreed to by company president Charles Ramsey in accordance with a special use zoning change.

The covenants placed on the property are:

- Allowable uses in this area shall be business and professional offices; computer and other hardware/software establishments; research, development and other advanced technology establishments; provided that no operations are obnoxious, offensive or detrimental to neighboring property by reason of dust, smoke, vibrations, noise, odor, or effluents.
- Sheet metal buildings are not allowed. Exterior construction shall be masonry, precast panels, or similar architecturally suitable materials.
- All development shall comply with front, side and rear yard, and height restrictions of R-1 districts, as described in Ordinance #220, the City's Zoning Ordinance.

d. Entrance and exit driveways shall not open to St. Charles Street.

e. Up to 80,000 square feet of useable floor area may be erected in this district with access provided from Old Spanish Trail. Prior to the construction of additional building space, access to the site from Central Avenue shall be provided.

f. Construction traffic for the site is prohibited from St. Charles Street because of its low pavement quality and narrow width.

g. Any lighting used to illuminate parking area, signs, or other structures shall be arranged to deflect direct lighting away from nearby residential areas. Glare from floodlights shall not be directed into adjoining properties. The sources of light shall be hooded or controlled as necessary. The use of total site floodlighting or tall "freeway-type" fixtures shall be prohibited.

h. Exterior signs are allowed only on the walls of buildings or at ground level. Roof signs are not permitted. Signs may be reasonably illuminated, but shall not be moving, flashing, blinking, or fluctuating. Signs shall be architecturally coordinated with the geometry, materials and finishes of the park's structure. These restrictions shall not apply to traffic control signs.

i. All mechanical and electrical equipment, all loading docks and service entrances shall be screened from the public view.

The submission of the final plat was required by a decision made by Judge Costa Vlohes on May 27, 1988, stating that a final plat under the city's subdivision regulations must be approved before the zoning decision could be considered final.

The zoning change is opposed by residents of the area who claim such a development will negatively alter the character of their neighborhood.

In defense of the change, the city cites that the development will create 300 new jobs,

RATHER ECLECTIC is how Diamondhead artist Peggy Wolfe Carter describes her work being exhibited through July at the Pass Christian Library. Carter, a New Orleans native who, growing up, spent summers in Pass Christian, began painting under the tutelage of a private instructor at age 11; spending Saturday mornings in drawing classes at the Delgado Museum (now the New Orleans Museum of Art). After receiving a B.S. in art education from Louisiana State University and before moving to Diamondhead, she lived for 20 years in Greenville, Mississippi, and in Baton Rouge. The pieces in the exhibit, nudes with a New Orleans feel, beach scenes, delta scenes and conceptual abstractions, represent important stages and locales in Carter's life. "I tried to show the range of mediums I work in, the range of subject matter and, in the conceptual pieces, how I feel about my environment," Carter explained. The exhibit is sponsored by the Pass Christian Art Association. (Echo staff photo by D.C. Harvill)

Bay St. Louis expects tax increase to fund new Bay schools budget

BY DENA BISNETTE
Bay St. Louis city officials are expecting to have to increase taxes to support an larger budget for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District.

According to City Clerk Edward Favre, the city council will not have any choice about the increase.

According to state law, the city can not turn down a request for ad valorem taxes to finance a school district budget.

The only choice left, if enough revenue can not be found elsewhere in the city budget, is a tax increase, said Favre.

He said he expects the school district's official budget request to arrive at his office Monday, but has conferred with the school district's business manager, Garland Cuevas.

"Based on what I have, it looks like we will have about an eight mill increase, based on last year's assessed valuation," Favre stated. Last year's assessed valuation was about $49 million and this year's assessment has not yet been completed.

"As far as municipal funds are concerned, I'm not going to recommend any increase, but we have no choice with the school tax," he said.

Last year's municipal taxes amounted to 30.85 mills, with the school district getting 38.85 mills. Favre said the school millage increase would probably be 20 to 21 percent more than last year's tax and will hit commercial property owners most.

Public utilities have a built-in tax break, as do homeowners, who pay a 10 percent assessment with homestead exemption where applicable. Business property is assessed at 15 percent of its appraised value under current legislation.

"That's about $40 a year more on an average $50,000 house, but the business owner whose property is worth $100,000 will have to pay another $120 a year," the clerk said.

"It's going to get worse. We still don't know what the county's going to do."

Cities and counties operate on an Oct. 1 to Sept. 30 fiscal year and set millage in September, he explained. School districts have a June 1 to July 31 fiscal year and submit their budgets earlier.

"From the school standpoint, they say nothing is being wasted, but at the same time, can we afford to grow this fast?" Favre asked.

Cuevas explained that a school district can only have a seven percent increase in its ad valorem request unless certain exceptions are made by the state for new, state-mandated programs.

The budget this year for the school district will total $9,246,762 including $3 million left out of a $3.4 million bond issue for renovations and new construction at the district's four schools, Cuevas said.

Last year's budget on the surface appeared slightly higher at $9,371,071 but included the full bond issue.

Out of those two amounts, the current ad valorem request is estimated at $1,905,039, with about $120,705 in state exceptions to the seven percent cap. Those exceptions include kindergarten buses, state-mandated salary increases and some increases in minimum program funding.

Last year's request was $1,606,043, a difference of $298,996, or about 18.6 percent, Cuevas said.

He added that the base year

Airport conflict continues between county and FBO

BY D.C. HARVILL
A legal battle, with no immediate end in sight, continues between the Fixed Base Operator at Stennis International Airport and the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, the government body charged with overseeing activities at the airport.

Coming to a head in court last Monday, the latest skirmish in the ongoing conflict began in March, when the commission, claiming Inovair International, Limited had not upheld the terms of its lease at Stennis, filed a suit to have the lease broken.

The eviction attempt was blocked when the company filed for protection under Chapter 11, giving it 60 days to reorganize, during which time no legal action could be taken against it.

William Carson, owner of Inovair, said in the interim the commission launched a legal offensive against him when it discovered that, because of a loophole, the lease had not been signed by Inovair, but by him personally.

Monday in court it was revealed that Carson, four days before, personally had filed for protection under bankruptcy laws.

"We filed suit to break his lease but didn't even get a hearing, because he filed for bankruptcy proceedings," commission attorney Robert Genin said.

"The bankruptcy court now has jurisdiction, and we have filed a petition with them to void the lease and give us possession of the airport," Genin added.

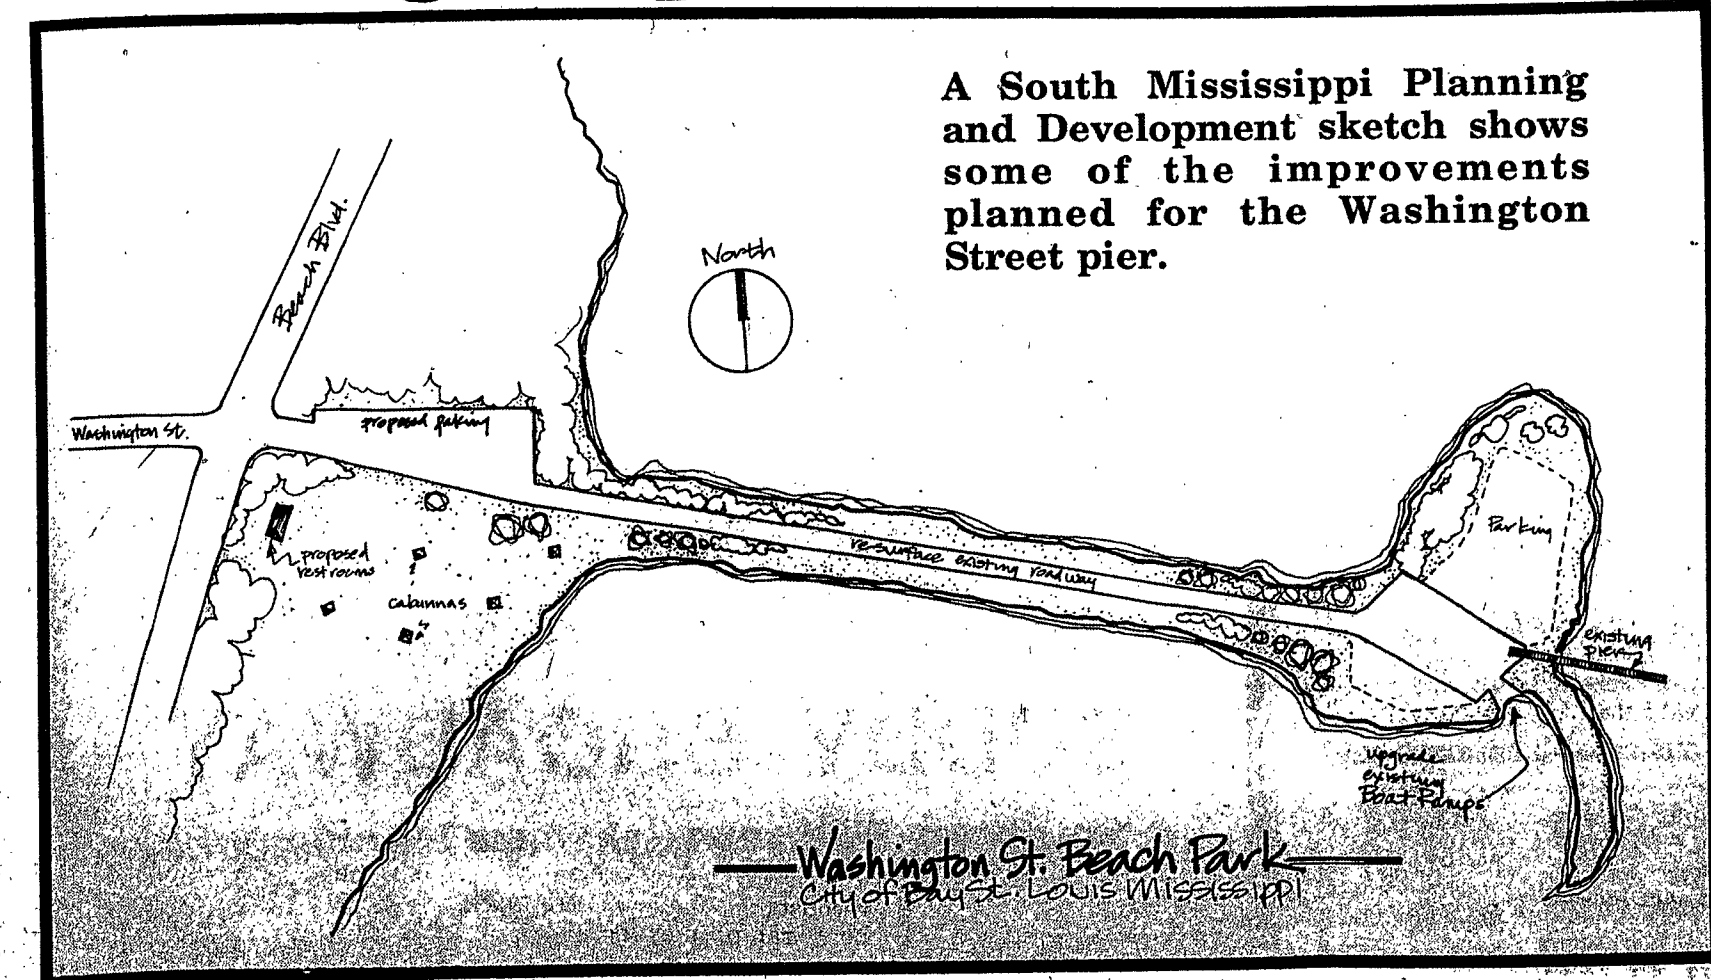

"He doesn't have a mechanic and he doesn't provide flying lessons, things required under the terms of the lease, but our hands are tied, because the lease is effectively extended by

Washington pier work must be completed by Sept.

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is now taking bids for $53,000 in improvements to the American Legion Veterans Memorial Public Pier at Washington Street.

Bids are scheduled to be opened July 29 for the project, which is also known as the Washington Street pier.

County Engineer Larry Seal said the deadline for completion of the project, which is being financed with $30,000 in grant funds from Bureau of Marine Resources, is Sept. 29.

Seal has explained to the board that it is a question of "use the money by the end of September or lose it."

The county is putting up $23,000 as its share of the cost, and has entered a 25-year lease with American Legion Post 139, which actually owns the facility.

Grant documents signed by Bureau of Marine Resources Director Richard L. Leard list the improvements as including reconstruction of the existing boat ramp, pier and access areas, with the addition of two finger piers extending from the sides of the present pier.

The roadway of the existing pier will have to be repaired and resurfaced.

In addition, the section of beach at the base of the pier is expected to be converted into a park-like area with cabanas, pavilions, restrooms, a boardwalk and a parking area.

According to Jeff Taylor of South Mississippi Planning and Development District, who assisted the board in securing the grant, the project is designed to be compatible with the Sand Beach Master Plan adopted in 1986 by the Hancock County Sand Beach Technical Advisory Council.

The Washington Street area was one of several chosen as targets for recreational development based on current beach usage, according to Taylor.

According to Seal, the construction can probably be completed soon enough to comply with the grant deadline.

Survey work for the project is already in progress.

Respect for the dead important to some

In recent months there have been several occasions when vandalism has occurred in local cemeteries.

One of the most recent instances was at the Rotten Bayou Cemetery. Flower arrangements were scattered on numerous graves, crosses removed from graves, vases broken, head stones turned over and several foot stones moved.

It takes someone very low to do such things to the grave sites of the dead.

Loved ones of the departed are the ones who really suffer when things such as this happen to the graves of the departed.

It is hoped the persons responsible will be caught and have to pay the price for the vandalism. Who knows, they may also have to pay a bigger price in the future.

Quotables by CUEVAS

Hancock County will be well represented at the Democratic Convention in Atlanta this coming week.

Hilda Bourg of Diamondhead and Mayor Victor Frankiewicz will be among those in attendance at the convention.

Bourg is the only elected delegate from the State of Mississippi committed to Michael Dukakis and Frankiewicz is the only elected committed alternate for the governor of Massachusetts.

In a conversation with Bourg a couple days ago, who was really thrilled about being involved in the selection of a Demo presidential candidate, she told me she was also a floor whip from the Mississippi delegation for Dukakis.

Since there are only 44 delegates and 13 alternates from the state at the National Democratic Convention, Hancock Countians can feel very good about being well represented.

By the way, Hancock County was the only county in the state of Mississippi in which Dukakis led the ticket on Super Tuesday.

We will be looking forward to seeing Bourg and Frankiewicz on TV this week as the Mississippi delegation will be very close to the podium.

In a few weeks we will also be looking for familiar faces from Hancock County at the National Republican Convention.

We have been under the impression for some time of their being a Mississippi law requiring motorbike riders to wear helmets.

We noted on Thursday a rider of an off-road motorbike without a helmet traveling on Diamondhead Drive and also with a heavy foot to the throttle, doing about 40 to 50 in a 30 mile per hour zone.

This young man is looking for trouble, because it is our understanding that it is illegal to ride off-road motorbike on a roadway, it is against the law and very dangerous to ride a motobike without a helmet, it is illegal to drive a vehicle without a license and illegal to exceed posted speed limits.

We hope this young man realizes all the laws he is violating.

In Congress

By Congressman Trent Lott

The U.S. has a trade problem, but it can be solved. And Mississippi can help!

When a man or woman decides to open a business, he starts by identifying a need for a product. After finding a way to produce it, he must then find a market. It's a simple formula that businesses, large and small, use every day. So why can't we use it to reduce our trade deficit? We can.

We can do it by finding products that other countries want. In Mississippi, we don't have to look very far.

Our timber industry is an untapped resource. Foreign countries are always looking for sawlogs, lumber, plywood and paper products. If the demand is there, and it is, we should supply it.

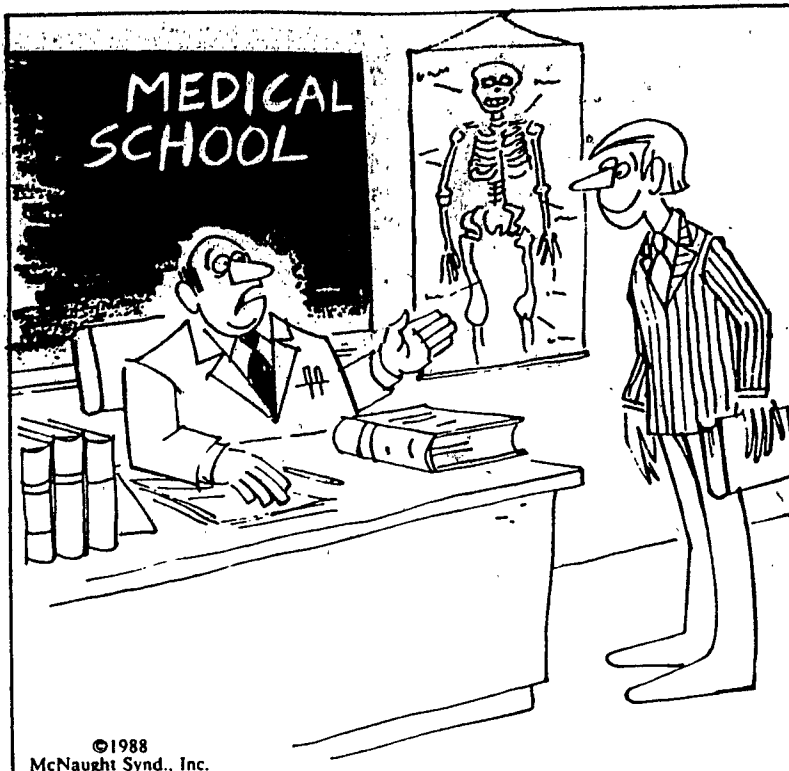

But we shouldn't restrict our search to the land. Just miles off the Mississippi Gulf Coast is what some experts are calling a 'pot of gold' just waiting to be discovered. The butterflyfish isn't easy to catch and I'm told it doesn't taste very good either, but in Japan the butterflyfish is considered a delicacy. The Japanese will pay top dollar for this product if we can get it to them. We can.

Recently we unveiled a butterflyfish marketing strategy. Later this month and two times soon afterward, we'll be sending Mississippi seafood distributors to Japan. Making business contacts overseas is a must for any exporter. This will provide our local dealers with that opportunity.

And Mississippi catfish, already a successful venture here at home, could be exported just as easily.

We've got the products to export. Now we must find the right marketing strategies. A successful businessman knows that finding the right product is only half the equation. Finding the right place to sell it is the other.

"An easy specialty is one thing, Arkins, but there's no such thing as specializing in hypochondria!"

The President's Column

New Drug Initiatives

By Ronald Reagan

I want to tell you about some new anti-drug initiatives, but first I would like to recognize a public servant of dedication and integrity, who has been a close friend for over 20 years.

Now that his name has been cleared, Ed Meese will be returning to private life this summer. As counselor at the White House and as attorney general, Ed Meese worked for stricter sentencing to put dangerous criminals behind bars and also for greater resources for drug enforcement and to fight organized crime. And in a system usually focused on the criminal, he never forgot the victims of crime or their rights.

As attorney general, Ed Meese led our effort to appoint high-qualified federal judges who would crack down on crime and also faithfully interpret the Constitution. He led our Justice Department as it aggressively defended civil rights. In fact, this administration has achieved more convictions for civil rights violations than any previous administration.

In fighting terrorism, Attorney General Meese worked closely with our allies to detect, apprehend, and prosecute those who wage war on innocent members of free societies. And in our campaign against the menace of illegal drugs, Ed Meese has been a central figure, serving as chairman of the National Drug Policy Board.

Now, let me turn to our anti-drug efforts. I believe that drug testing is a key tool to help promote public safety and a drug-free workforce. In fact, to set a good example, White House employees were informed recently that random drug testing would begin in 60 days. I hope the White House program will encourage increased testing programs in the private sector.

In addition, I have approved a new set of drug abuse policy recommendations. These proposals send a strong message to drug traffickers and illegal drug users that we have zero tolerance for those who sell or use illegal drugs.

For example, we would require businesses and colleges that receive federal funds to adopt effective anti-drug programs. For pregnant women who use illegal drugs, there should be priority treatment to help them and their unborn children. We would give the military a greater role in coordination with our drug enforcement agencies.

Criminals on probation or parole would be drug tested—and testing positive might send them right back to jail. And, yes, for those who commit drug-related murders or kill law officers, we favor the federal death penalty.

Since 1981, when Vice President George Bush and I took office, we have better than tripled total federal spending for drug enforcement, prevention and treatment. And we have requested a further 13-percent increase that will put nearly $4 billion into the federal effort next year. And we are beginning to see results—arrests are up; seizures are up; and use, in some categories, is coming down.

But by far the most important development is the change in attitude in America. You can feel it. People are angry about illegal drugs. We are a patient people, but we have lost our patience—and this is good news. Because more needs to be done, and, as never before, the American people are doing it, in their neighborhoods, through their churches, at their schools and workplaces.

For example, today 28 percent of our largest corporations have drug testing programs. Communities are working with police to get rid of drug dealers. And in thousands of schools throughout America, there now are 'Just Say No' clubs. I have to tell you, that whole movement began when a young girl asked Nancy what to do if someone offered her drugs. Nancy told her, "Just say no."

I think that if young people across the country can come together against illegal drugs, then the grown-ups in Washington should be able to do the same. In May, I proposed that both Houses of Congress, both sides of the aisle, join together with our administration in a bipartisan Executive-Legislative Task Force to advance America's unified anti-drug policy.

I proposed this task force for a simple reason: If we are going to get the drugs out of our schools, we need to get the politics out of drugs. And fortunately, on the drug issue there is near unanimous agreement. I can tell you, that was not the case seven years ago, but it is today.

This is my final year in office, and I believe that partisan bickering or seeking political advantage can only delay our progress in working to achieve a drug-free America. Recently, I gave a set of policy proposals to my representatives to the Executive-Legislative task force. I hope that the Democratic leaders in Congress will now join in this united effort; the time for excuses and delays is long past. I hope that through this task force we all can come together and work in good faith for the good of this country.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—Just in time for the 1988 elections, former Ole Miss political science professor Alex Lamis is bringing out an updated version of his 1984 book, "The Two-Party South," which provides more evidence of the region's partisan development.

Lamis, now associate professor of political science at the University of North Florida, focuses upon how President Reagan demolished Walter Mondale in the 1984 presidential race and how that campaign underscored elements at work in Southern politics.

Although his expanded edition went to press before the Democratic and Republican presidential nominees were known, we may be able to find some benchmarks to use in assessing Southern strategies in the upcoming presidential race between Vice-President George Bush and Gov. Michael Dukakis.

Significantly, Lamis alludes to the emergence of Jesse Jackson and the possible effect of Jackson's forceful personality on the delicately balanced black-white coalition which is the engine that propels the Southern Democracy.

His view is that problems for the Democrats in the South highlighted by Jackson's vigorous presence are merely a continuation of the tensions that have existed as a result of diversity within the South throughout the post-civil rights era.

In short, dealing with Jackson is more a manifestation of the tenuousness of holding Southern white Democrats in Dixie's 'night and day' coalition.

While Reagan's 1984 triumph had many of the same dynamics nationally as it did in the South, Lamis points out, the president still piled up a bigger margin in the 11 states of the former Confederacy than he did elsewhere. In this region, Reagan won with 62.4 percent as compared with 57.6 percent in the other 39 states.

What is of particular interest here is the failure of Mondale to garner enough support in the white wing of the South's black-white coalition to prevent a complete rout in every one of the Southern states, some even worse than others.

Throughout the South, Lamis estimates that Mondale got only 28 percent of the white vote, some 8 to 10 percentage points less than his white vote in the North.

Mississippi is pointed to by Lamis as Mondale's worst state in getting white votes. Using figures developed from election day exit polls as reported by the Joint Center for Political Studies, only 14 percent of white Mississippians voted for Mondale, and 85 percent for Reagan.

"For anyone keeping the 1984 election in historical perspective," Lamis writes, "it would be unwise not to look at the lingering race issue as a partial explanation of these voting results."

But race in the 1980's in the South, as well in the nation, he says, "was a far more subtle element than it was in the pre-1964 period."

Reagan's record on race-sensitive issues could not go unnoticed by Southern whites, he says. "One would have to be naive not to recognize that the president's policies sent coded signals to those whites who do not like blacks."

Consequently, Lamis continues, "Mississippi, the Southern state most preoccupied with race, produced the lowest white support for Mondale. South Carolina, the state with the second highest percentage of blacks, probably was a close second, with Alabama not far behind."

In senatorial races that year, Lamis points out that in Mississippi Republican Sen. Thad Cochran defeated Democratic former Gov. William Winter 60.9 to 39.1, with Cochran almost duplicating Reagan's percentage in the state.

"In the end, Mississippi voters apparently linked the presidential and senatorial races closely, and the racial polarization that occurred in the presidential balloting spilled over to the Senate race," he writes.

Was there a realignment of politics in the South as a result of the 1984 Reagan landslide?

Lamis doesn't answer that question head-on. If realignment is merely a synonym for change, he says, then the destruction of the one-party system and the rise of two-party competition in the region means realignment has been going on for several decades.

But, he reminds, one must get close to the partisan scene in each Southern state to find a more meaningful answer.

Governor's Weekly Column

Gov. Ray Mabus

Later this year, I hope the Legislature—in a special session—will give the citizens of every county in Mississippi the unit system of government. It has been proven that taxpayers will get more and better services at less cost under the unit system.

Some people fear that the unit system will somehow take something away from supervisors or take their government further away from them. Nothing could be more mistaken. The unit system of government will give supervisors more time to make important policy decisions for the county. And, by saving money, they would have more dollars to implement those policies. The county unit system will enhance the position of supervisors instead of lessening it. Supervisors can no longer be just road foremen.

The bottom line is that county supervisors and the people they serve will gain a lot.

It is true that under the unit system, each supervisor would no longer oversee his or her own road crew or set of road equipment. By creating one central road department, the county can do more for less because it would be using the county's resources more efficiently, and, as a result, the roads will be better for everyone.

No company would build or maintain roads as we do in non-unit system counties, and neither should we.

When the 'beat system' of government used by most Mississippi counties was set up in 1890, it was necessary to have a supervisor whose main duties were to act as a road foreman. After all, 100 years ago it took a person a day to travel from Jackson to Canton, which is only 30 miles away. Not only was transportation slow, so were communications.

Today, a supervisor must devote time and attention to other policy matters, such as economic development, industrial and agricultural development, and long-range planning. One hundred years ago, the job was much less complex.

The unit system of government will allow supervisors to better serve the people that elect them.

Let me tell you what one county was able to do under the unit system.

In 1984, Neshoba County went to the unit system. They realized significant savings under the unit system, according to a study by Mississippi State University. During fiscal year 1986-1987, Neshoba County was able to reduce property taxes.

Now, when was the last time you heard of a tax decrease?

Many of Mississippi's supervisors support the unit system of government, and more than 20 Mississippi counties use some form of it. These supervisors should be congratulated.

In order for all Mississippians to benefit, the Legislature should—and I believe they will—require all counties to go to the unit system of government.

Q. One of the largest peace-time mobilizations of the Mississippi National Guard was in 1927. Why?

A. The Flood of 1927. The Guard patrolled the Mississippi River levees for 70 miles and rescued, evacuated and established camps for more than 30,000 Mississippi Delta refugees.

increases in sales tax revenues, property tax revenues, population, and opportunities for Bay St. Louis residents to earn a good living without having to leave the area.

Current taxes generated by the property, according to the city, are approximately $360 per year. When developed, it is claimed, it will generate $28,000 in school taxes. After the ten year exemption period, the development would generate about $100,000 in annual taxes.

Both the city and those opposed to the development expect the final plat acceptance to send the case back to the court system for a face-off from which neither side intends to back away.

the bankruptcy," commissioner Dave McDonald said.

"Neither I nor the company has filed for bankruptcy," Carson said, "We have merely filed for reorganization under Chapter 11.

"All I am is a business man trying to make a living, trying to build a business and promote Stennis Airport and Hancock County, but the powers that be have other ideas," Carson said.

Carson purchased the five year FBO lease, along with two five year renewal options, from its previous owner, Bay Aviation, in 1986.

"Every check, every shred of correspondence with the Port and Harbor Commission has been in the name of Inovair," Carson stated.

Carson claims the county has been in collusion to break his lease since Inovair took possession of the FBO.

"They've set up roadblocks at every opportunity, they've broken numerous laws, all in an attempt to break the lease," he said.

"It's hard fighting alley cats at every turn. I'm not as strong as they are," Carson explained, "I have to fight it any way I can."

Carson said he is trying to get investors to help him implement the services required by the lease, but which, he claims, he has been unable to provide due to interference from the county.

Friday saw a new development in the case when sheriff's personnel, acting under a court order issued by the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of Mississippi, were dispatched to the airport to release three airplanes, being held by Inovair, into the possession of their owner, Roy Stewart of Long Beach.

According to Carson, Stewart and Bianca Beudeau, in violation with their agreement with him had been attempting to operate an FBO out of office and hanger space rented from Inovair.

"When they refused to pay the rent I discovered they were in collusion with the county and had been instructed by them not to pay the rent," he said.

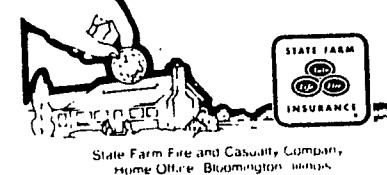

After he locked up the planes, Carson said, he caught the couple breaking into the hangers.

"I will be filing criminal charges for breaking and entering and for threatening may life," Carson stated.

Commodity distribution scheduled Thursday

The Hancock County Welfare Department will distribute USDA Commodities—cheese, butter, honey and rice on Thursday, July 21 at the American Legion Hall on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Distribution hours will be from 9:30 a.m. until all of the commodities are gone, but no later than 2 p.m.

Eligible recipients are those who receive food stamps or members of low income households who have applied for commodities at the Welfare Department and have been determined eligible.

Participants are reminded that they must bring their signed voucher with them in order to receive commodities. If a participant wishes to have someone else pick up the commodities they must sign the voucher on the front and on the back and the person picking up the commodities must sign it on the back and bring it to the distribution site.

This "Nova" will be repeated at 11 a.m., Thursday, July 28.

Participants are reminded that they can only pick up commodities for two households at a time and that they will have to carry the commodities they pick up.

Non-food stamp recipients may apply for commodities at the Welfare Department Monday, July 18 through Thursday July 21 (the day of distribution). Applications will not be taken at the distribution site.

The Food Distribution Program is available to all eligible recipients regardless of race, color, national origin, religion, age, sex or handicap.

The Right To Vote Is A Gift

We, the State Highway Department employees, work daily to improve our highway system in the Southern District. On July 23, we will elect a new Highway Commissioner. We urge you to join with us in voting for the candidate of your choice. Your vote is extremely important to avoid special interest groups electing a person to benefit their personal needs. Our system is a good system and can be strengthened and improved by voter participation.

On July 23, we must count on you to join with us to improve our highway system in the southern district. PLEASE VOTE.

Jail air-conditioning delayed until next year

BY DENA BISNETTE

Air conditioning for the Hancock County Jail will not be possible this summer.

According to Board of Supervisors President Ronald Cuevas, the county can not provide air conditioning for jail inmates this summer if proper bidding procedures are used.

The board took no official action, but Cuevas said the matter will be delayed until next year. The board's next fiscal year begins Oct. 1 and the budget for that year is still being prepared.

Earlier this month, the board had discussed the lack of air conditioning in the jail's upstairs section, where inmates are housed, with Warden Jim Odom and Jailer Gerald Necaise.

According to Odom, the ductwork and other facilities necessary for air conditioning was built in the upstairs section of the jail during construction, but only the downstairs where the sheriff's office and dispatch areas are actually have air conditioning now.

An air induction system is used upstairs, and Odom told the board Friday that temperatures of 90 and 95 degrees are being recorded upstairs.

The upstairs air conditioning was left out of the original construction as a cost-saving measure and because some of the county's schools did not have air-conditioned classrooms.

Cuevas said the supervisors had consulted with the architect who designed the building and with the mechanical engineer who supervised the ductwork. Both said the job would be more expensive than expected.

Under the necessary bidding procedures, a board vote to advertise Friday would have resulted in a bid opening in mid-August, Cuevas said.

Usually, there is a short delay in issuing a work order on a bid project because certain documentation must be obtained from the contractor selected and must be verified. Also, a project such as air conditioning installation could be delayed further while parts are ordered and shipped.

"It ought to be ready to switch on somewhere around the middle of October," Cuevas explained in recommending that consideration of the matter be delayed for the next fiscal year.

In other business, the board: —Discussed and chose to get two appraisals on the Russell Building, located directly across Main Street from the courthouse, which has been offered for sale or lease to the county as a possible office for the county purchasing department;

—Approved replacement of a sheriff's department radio base station destroyed by lightning;

—Discussed but took under advisement a request for abandonment of Perniciaro Lane as a county-maintained road; and —Heard a report from Walter James Phillips on the progress being made by a commission studying public trust wetlands.

The board meets again at 9 a.m. July 25 in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

Dixieland theme park planned at DeLisle site

A $20 million theme park and factory outlet center is being planned for a Harrison County site five miles east of Diamondhead.

The proposed Dixieland Theme Park and Direct Factory Outlet Center, expected to open during 1990, will occupy 125 of a 360-acre site under option at the DeLisle exit of Interstate 10.

The project calls for a 60-store complex and a New Orleans-style theme park with architecture similar to that of the French Quarter.

The complex is expected to employ about 500 people after the construction phase is completed and to attract about 800,000 visitors its first year.

Rip Hoxie, president of Dixieland Real Estate Services, Inc., of Biloxi and spokesman for the group, said financing is still being sought but encouraging responses have been received from a group of Japanese investors.

Hoxie said the theme park will begin operation by late March 1990 but an earlier opening is being contemplated for the outlet center.

"We are placing Dixieland within a one-hour drive for 1,145,000 people and within a two-hour drive of another 2,149,000," stated Hoxie.

The proposed ticket price is $14.95 per person with children three and under free, in order to compete with comparable theme parks.

"Our whole concept, combining the theme park with a direct outlet center, affords the median salaried families the opportunity to save enough on needed items to help defer vacation expenses," he said.

"We know the majority of our vacationers come to the Gulf Coast to take advantage of lower rates and vacation expenses than they would incur in Florida anyway."

The site is only 55 minutes from New Orleans and is along the first direct access to Gulf Coast beaches.

He said the park has been in the planning stages for the past 20 years but had been discounted five years ago in a study by a Texas firm.

However, Hoxie called the Gulf Coast one of the few locations left without a theme park within 400 miles. It will be operated by a professional management company with theme park experience but the park corporation will own the facility and entertainment attractions.

Provisions have been made to add a new ride each year, added Hoxie, whose real estate firm will be a minority owner in the corporation.

The additional land will be used for commercial development and park expansion.

Hoxie said assistance in locating Dixieland in DeLisle has been provided by Harrison County Economic Development Commission, Greater Biloxi Economic Development Foundation, City of Gulfport, Harrison County Tourism Commission and Mississippi Power Company.

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE HUMMINBIRD PROS

by Larry Colombo

Welcome to fishing's "Dog Days" of summer. Anglers will experience some of the most difficult conditions under which to catch fish. Summer sun's rays have warmed surface temperatures to an annual high. Most ponds, lakes and reservoirs are extremely clear at this time. Fishermen must resort to extreme tactics for continued success.

Drop down to lighter line. At least back off two to four pounds lighter than you normally use. Try worm fishing with eight pound test. Keep hooks needle sharp and drag set lighter than normal.

Big fish tend to be sluggish this time of year. Whatever you fish, fish it slowly. Worms should be fished at a crawl, crankbaits fished with a start-stop retrieve, jig and pigs worked slowly near the bottom.

If your favorite body of water has a lot of vegetation - moss, milfoil, hydrilla, etc., fish as close to the edge of the growth as possible.

The vegetation provides cover from the bright sunlight and there is adequate oxygen available. Top pros like Hank Parker like to flip a heavy jig in the middle of the heaviest growth. Heavier line is necessary for this type of flipping.

Night fishing provides some of the best action now. On a lake, night-lighted boat docks produce well. Learn the docks where man-made structure has been added. Big, noisy top water baits produce big bass at night. Go to heavier line for this.

Tips from the Humminbird Pros are presented by Humminbird, Eufaula, Alabama. Good Fishing!

Tennis was part of the Olympics until 1924.

MAGICWORD

HOW TO PLAY: Read the list of words. Look at the puzzle. You'll find these words in all directions — horizontally, vertically, diagonally, backwards. Draw a circle around each letter of a word found in the puzzle, then strike it off the list. Circling it will show a letter has been used but will leave it visible should it also form part of another word. Find the big words first. When letters of all listed words are circled, you'll have the given number of letters left over. They'll spell out your MAGICWORD.

Coastal group picks Nurse of The Year

Ann Bobinger, director of nursing and assistant administrator at Gulf Oaks Hospital and Clinic in Biloxi, has been selected as the 1988 Nurse of the Year in District Five by the Mississippi Nurses' Association.

Mrs. Bobinger was selected from a group of 20 nominees from Coastal counties.

She received her award along with Carol Stewart, R.N., of the Biloxi School System who also was awarded the prestigious honor in this year's competition.

Mrs. Bobinger began her nursing career in 1968 as a charge nurse on the medical/surgical unit at George County Hospital in Lucedale.

Two years later, she continued her career as head nurse of a 34-bed med/surg unit at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

In 1974, she accepted the position as staff nurse in the respiratory ICU at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Gulfport and one year later returned to Memorial Hospital to accept a promotion to supervisor of a 20-bed psychiatric unit.

During her five years in this position, Mrs. Bobinger developed all nursing policies for the establishment of the new unit, coordinated day to day activities of the unit, supervised the entire nursing staff, students and interns, and was responsible for all educational programs on the unit.

She also supervised a 20-bed med/surg unit for one year during her tenure there.

In 1980, she became the Inpatient Educational Program coordinator at Gulf Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi.

After successfully carrying out her responsibilities in this role for two years, she was given the additional task of serving as the assistant director of nursing at the same hospital.

Additional responsibilities included implementation of her role expanded to include direct supervision of all clinical departments.

She is an active member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, District Five Mississippi Nurses Association, Gulf Coast Continuing Education Group of Nurse Educators and the Gulf Coast Chapter of Hospice.

She serves as a member of the board of directors of the

SKEETS REBROADCAST

A rooftop club and an evening skyline set the mood for the swing style of guitar virtuoso Skeets McWilliams. ETV presents an hour of his unique brand of music when 'Skeets' is rebroadcast at 1 p.m., Thursday, July 21.

McWilliams and his musical cronies entertain a studio audience with such standards as 'G Jam Blues,' 'Mood Indigo-Sophisticated Lady,' 'Spanish Eyes,' 'Old Man River' and 'Talk of the Town.'

Accompanying him in this club concert are Woody Coats of Jackson on saxophone and clarinet; Murphy Campo of New Orleans on trumpet; Reid Baker of Bloomington, Ill., on bass; Eddie Burt of Terry on drums; and Dick Goodwin of Greenville on vibes.

A native of Jackson, McWilliams played in two well-known bands while in the Navy—Eddie Peabody's group and Ray Anthony's Navy Band.

With this impressive 16 years of experience, Mrs. Bobinger was offered the position of director of nursing at Gulf Oaks Hospital and Clinic in 1984 where she was responsible for the establishment of the Nursing Department of the new hospital in all aspects.

She was promoted in 1986 to assistant administrator where

RONNIE MILSAP

He is one of the most versatile artists in country music today, with a style running the gamut from pop to R & B, country to rock, and even gospel.

The unique talents of Ronnie Milsap are highlighted on an encore broadcast of 'Austin City Limits' at 9 p.m., Saturday, July 23, on Mississippi ETV.

Although born blind, Milsap is a master at the guitar, violin and piano. He is also an accomplished musician with all of the woodwind and percussion instruments, as well as a writer of hit songs.

In this ACL rebroadcast, which also air at 1 p.m., Friday, July 29, Milsap performs such great favorites as 'It Was Almost Like a Song,' 'Smoky Mountain Rain,' 'Any Day Now' and 'What a Difference You've Made.'

Davis brings his unique form of showmanship to the stage of the Boston Pops when he joins John Williams and the orchestra for a very special 'Evening at Pops' at 7 p.m., Saturday, July 23, on Mississippi ETV.

Sharing the stage with Davis and the Pops is Tamara Smirnova-Sajfar, violinist and new concertmistress, performing the hauntingly beautiful 'Meditations from Thais' by Massenet.

The 'Evening at Pops' will be rebroadcast at 1 p.m., Monday July 25.

"PARDON OUR PROGRESS"

A major re-construction project is planned for widening an overlay of Dunbar Avenue, St. Francis Street, Old Spanish Trail (from U.S. 90 to City Limits), the entire length of Bouslog Street and other unpaved streets.

This work is expected to begin (barring any unforeseen problems) by mid-July and be completed in November, 1988.

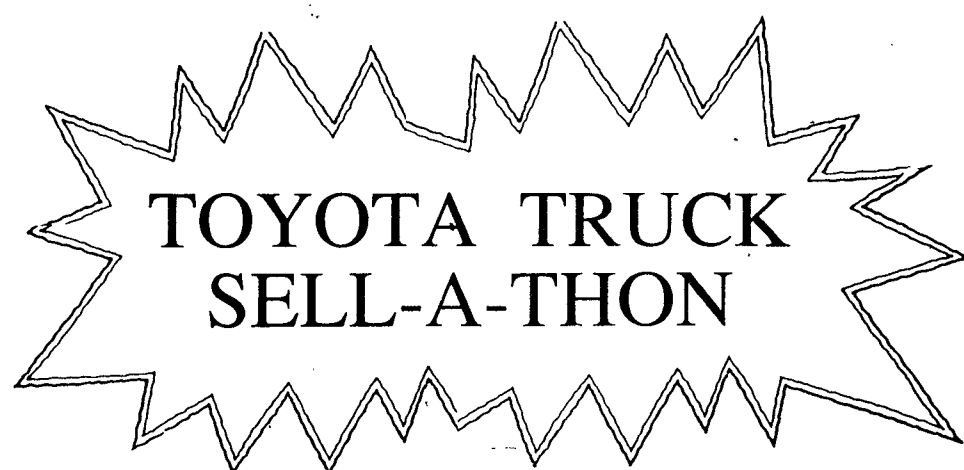

As in any major construction projects the city is aware that its citizens will experience some inconvenience and asks that you bear with us during this construction period.

FAMILIES IN TRANSITION, PART I: CHILDREN OF DIVORCE

Ron Melancon, BCSW (SMH) Thursday, July 14/12:00 Noon

How do children experience their parents' divorce? What are "normal" reactions? How should a divorced be handled when children are involved? When might professional help be advised? These and other questions will be explored by Ron Melancon, BCSW, Clinical Social Worker and Therapist.

SEXUAL FANTASY — PROMISCUOUS OR PERMISSIBLE?

Dr. K. Bradley Frost, (Sexologist) Monday, July 18/7:30 PM

All people fantasize or day dream to some degree, but fantasies containing sexual/romantic ideas often bring about as much anxiety and guilt as they do pleasure and excitement. Dr. K. Bradley Frost, Sexologist will candidly discuss the most recent information concerning fantasy and the role it can play in enhancing the sexual/romantic part of a relationship. Bring your partner for an enlightening and entertaining evening.

ADOLESCENT GYNECOLOGY

Dr. Quita Morgan Tuesday, July 19/7:00 PM

Girls at the ages of 9-13 are encountering physical and emotional changes which result in interest in their personal development. The physical aspects of development vary from one girl to another and some changes are normal and should not cause concern. Dr. Quita Morgan, a retired physician with special training in adolescent gynecology will present the stages of development so women of ALL ages are familiar with "Growing Up".

WHALES

They are the world's largest mammals, and for centuries they were victims of wholesale slaughter for their valuable blubber and oil.

'Whales!' the next 'National Audubon Society Special' on Mississippi ETV at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 17, looks at the global movement to save the plummeting whale population, including an international moratorium on whaling.

Johnny Carson narrates this one-hour special, which uncovers what scientists hope to learn from studying these creatures.

Diamondhead Boaters Association

The Diamondhead Boaters Association spent a spectacular 'Evening with the Stars' at the Diamondhead Country Club Saturday, July 9.

Throughout the evening members and their guests danced and listened to 'star' songs played by The Shamrock Band. Some songs were accompanied by special effects: 'Catch a Falling Star' and 'Swinging on a Star' were played as a large suspended star moved appropriately.

The grand finale was compliments of Keesler Air Force Base who offered their U.S. Air Force Alpha Drill Team's special march and drill to the musical 'Stars and Stripes Forever.' Nina Cotton's own handmade eight-foot American Flag was lowered during the playing of 'The Star Spangled Banner.'

A great and added thrill to our entertainment was Madeline Prima, our own 'Broadway Star' of Diamondhead, singing her old favorite songs. This brought the house down (as well as some of the star decorations from the ceiling!)

A six-foot high, blue twinkling star, made by the Marshalls, Cutlers and Siminos, welcomed the party-goers as they first entered the country club. Hundreds of light-blue balloons were clustered through the foyer and main dining room. Silver stars of various heights hung from the chandeliers. The main attraction was a 10-foot high 'Stairway to the Stars' made by the Snows. Other attractions included a wall of blue tulle and white lights arranged to depict the 'Big Dipper' and the North Star, designed and arranged by Verna Terry.

The tables were covered with royal-blue cloths. Light-blue candles were placed among centerpieces which consisted of garlands of small silver stars. Those assisting in decorating were Billie Jean Bargar, L. Terrys, Jean Keen, Pat Stafford, Ethyl Kimmett, Barbara Coutre, P. Garberg, G. Perrys, Olive Ruth, Lee Fredian and Cecil Grice. Props were made by Johnny Bargar.

All in all it was truly a 'star-studded' evening, and truly one to celebrate the anniversary of our country.

By Katy McGuire Caire
 Chicken and fruit, especially citrus fruits, have a special affinity, with the result a tangy, tasty, easily prepared dish, fine for a family dinner or supper, and equally at home as the star of a festive dinner or buffet supper—and kind to the budget as well!
 I like to roast a whole chicken with a mixture of apple, banana and orange stuffed into the cavity. I also enjoy roast chicken with cherries or spiced crabapples—and so on.
 One of the most tasty, and easy, dishes which I often make, is a chicken, orange, almond and raisin combination. So here's:

Chicken in Orange And Almond Sauce
 1 chicken, cut up
 1/2 stick butter or margarine
 2 Tblsp. flour
 1/2 tsp. salt, optional
 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
 Scant pinch of ginger
 1 1/2 cups orange juice
 1/2 cup slivered almonds
 1/2 cup raisins
 1 cup orange sections (or canned mandarin sections)
 Brown the chicken in the butter or margarine, in a large skillet, then place in a casserole or baking dish.
 Blend the flour, salt, cinnamon and ginger into the pan drippings to make a smooth paste, add the orange juice and cook over low heat, stirring the while, until the sauce thickens.
 Pour the sauce over the chicken, and sprinkle with the almonds and raisins. Cover the dish, and bake for an hour at 350 degrees.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JULY 17, 1988-7B
 Shortly before serving, garnish with the orange or mandarin slices, and serve with rice and a green salad. (Four to six servings.)
 You may wish to substitute peanuts or pecans for the almonds. When I'm adding extra flourishes, I sometimes add ripe and green olives to the dish, for added color and tang. (Copyright, 1988, Katharine D. M. Caire)

NEXT WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Weekly Tip: Be wary of invitations from strangers.

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) An offbeat planetary alignment has you confused over romantic affairs. Look to elders for help. Remain calm during this hectic time. Ask many questions.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Finding the right answers concerning domestic affairs will not come easily. An important person at work could help with your project. Trust this one.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Put your faith into your significant other; it will pay off. Rely on intuition concerning financial matters.

Cancer (June 21-Jul. 20) Place your soul into affairs of the heart if you want things to work out right. Be honest with yourself, as well as others, if you want to gain their trust.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) A family gathering could be a great source of information. Be quiet, but listen actively. A member of the opposite sex could cause trouble for you.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Stop waging war on yourself, as you are your own worst critic now. Take a short jaunt away from home.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Old buddies and new chums should be treated with respect since they will pull you through some tough times ahead. The planets favor romance now.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) If you want to advance, present yourself as interesting and helpful. Times are tough at the office, so safeguard your position by being supportive.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) New faces and places will mean much to you in the upcoming months. Find new outlets in which to place your overabundant energy.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You will know if someone is lying to you and, since it will happen, think ahead about how you will react. Money matters are best left for later weeks.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A born giver, you should be careful not to let someone take advantage of you now. Check out any rumors you hear.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Mystery surrounds the weeks ahead concerning just about everything. Stand your ground to come out of the fog. Domestic affairs will remain calm.

If you were born this week, you will certainly have your share of good and bad, ups and downs, highs and lows whatever! But you're from a stable lot, so you should be able to weather just about anything. When people look to you for advice, remember they are trusting you; don't pass out shoddy truths.

Introducing Our New One And A Half Million Dollar Baby.

A Brand New Maternity Center That Will Surround Your Baby With Luxury.

Our new maternity center is open. And, frankly, we feel a lot like proud parents. Because we've spared no expense in creating a facility for welcoming babies that lives up to every parent's highest expectations.

Better Than A Silver Spoon

We designed and built our maternity center to give your baby every advantage—when every advantage counts most.

First, we made sure our basics were exceptional: all-private rooms for all mothers, a choice of either homelike combination labor/delivery/recovery rooms or traditional labor and delivery suites, a delivery room for Caesarian births, two well baby nurseries and a newborn intensive care unit for babies who need special attention, a classroom for pre-natal instruction, a lounge for parents and visitors. And, while we welcome dads in delivery, we've also set aside a special waiting area with plenty of room to pace in comfort.

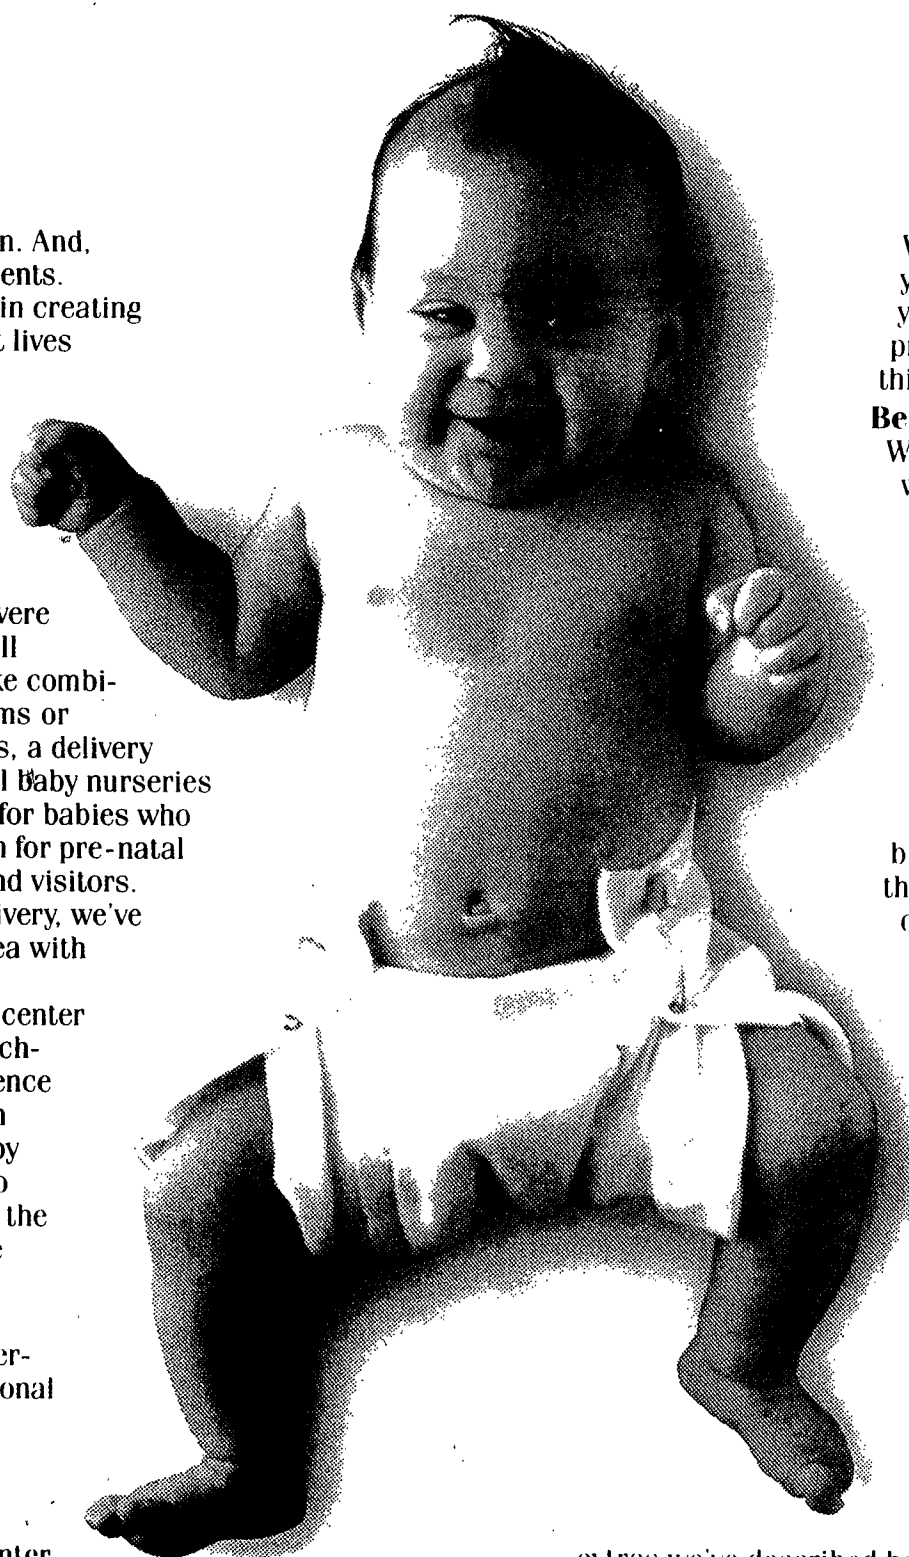

We furnished our new maternity center with the most advanced support technology available today. For convenience and efficiency, we put everything on one floor in a unit with its own lobby entrance. At NorthShore, there's no elevator ride, no long walk through the hospital, no confusion about where you are or where you're going.

The Best For The Best Of Times

Some people might say we went overboard in providing so many exceptional amenities. But, considering that a child's birth is one of life's treasured events and true miracles, we don't think so.

That's why our new maternity center isn't just adequate, it's luxurious.

You'll see what we mean from the moment we greet you at the door. For example, you might mistake our handsomely appointed lobby for the foyer of a fine hotel. You'll find our rooms are not only private—they're bright, fresh and airy, and they're every bit as comfortable as they look. We set aside a generous amount of space for our lounge and waiting areas and located them for easy access from our drive-up entrance as well as from all areas of the unit itself.

We spent a lot of time and effort to surround you and your new baby with a level of amenities you won't find elsewhere. And we're certainly proud of the result. But luxury's not the best thing about our new maternity center.

Better Yet, The Best Care

We've staffed our maternity center with people who are dedicated to providing the best possible care. We've given them the equipment they need and, just as important, a commitment to service that goes far beyond building an exceptional facility.

But that's nothing new.

We've always been known for the little things we do that make a big difference. Things like treating you to a private room at no extra charge. Preparing you for parenthood with informational (and enjoyable) childbirth classes. Lending you a beeper during the last month of pregnancy to make sure that out of sight isn't out of touch. Performing free examinations whenever your own doctor is unavailable.

What's more, we don't stop caring after you leave the hospital. We send a professional housekeeper to your home to do your chores and cooking for five days.

We even send you out for a night on the town when you're ready to celebrate.

We've Saved The Best For Last.

Despite the fact that we spared no expense in building, equipping and staffing our new maternity center, it's not as expensive as you might think.

In fact, our prices are currently the lowest in the entire New Orleans metropolitan area. And, while certain packages involve conditions we'll be happy to explain fully in person or over the phone, they all include all the extras we've described here.

So the best thing about our maternity center is that you and your baby can have the best of everything at the best price anywhere. And that's one luxury you can hardly afford to do without.

Find out more about our one and a half million dollar pride and joy, and the difference it can make when your own new baby arrives on the scene.

Call the maternity center at NorthShore, 1-800-237-3414 in Louisiana or 1-800-843-8982 outside Louisiana.

Vegas-Rowlands

The marriage of Carolyn Jane Rowlands of Tampa, Fla. and P. Hunter Vegas of Bay St. Louis was solemnized Saturday, June 18, at Forest Hills Presbyterian Church in Tampa with the Reverend Dr. Louis Lunardini officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. David Thomas Rowlands Jr. of Tampa, Fla. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Leon Vegas Jr. of Bay St. Louis.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of bridal satin designed with delicate roses, beaded pearls, sequins and crystals. The softly flowing skirt swept to a cathedral-length train and was complemented by the cascade of white roses she carried.

The bride's sister, Julie Marie Rowlands of Tampa, attended as the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Judith Podlipnik of Kenosha, Wisc. and Rebecca Raje of Wayne, Penn.

Michael Lance Vegas of Bay St. Louis served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were Daniel Joseph Moran of Gulfport and Randy Owens of Reston, Va. Richard Corley of New York City and Ricky Thompson of Bay St. Louis served as ushers.

A reception at Carrollwood Village Golf and Tennis Club followed the ceremony. After a honeymoon trip to St. John in the U.S. Virgin Islands, the couple will reside in New Orleans, La.

Ellis-Rigby

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Ellis of Bay St. Louis announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Janet Claire Ellis, to Gerald William Rigby Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald William Rigby of Diamondhead.

Miss Ellis is a 1979 graduate of Bay Senior High School. She is employed by Dr. John S. Clark and is owner-operator of Janet's Petite World of Dance.

Mr. Rigby is a 1980 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School and received a degree in accounting from the University of Southern Mississippi. He is self-employed.

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will be the setting for the July 23 evening ceremony with reception following at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall on Third Street in Bay St. Louis.

Bradburn-Henton

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bradburn of New Orleans, La. announce the engagement of their daughter, Tasia Eileen Bradburn, to Brian Wayne Henton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph N. Henton of Waveland.

Miss Bradburn is the granddaughter of Mrs. Zoraida Bradburn of New Orleans and the late Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Favre of Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Henton is the grandson of the late Margaret D. Spitzer of Arabi, La. and the late Pauline Farr of Cold Water, Mich.

The wedding will be solemnized November 12 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church with reception to follow.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

WAVELAND

Tops No. 233 Waveland met July 12. The top loser of the week was Trish Prendergast.

Meetings are held each Tuesday at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue at 6:45 p.m. Weigh-ins are conducted from 5:30 until 6:45 p.m. Information concerning the club may be obtained by calling Chris at 467-7716 or Sandra at 467-9271.

It's hard to believe that all of the old members are all on vacation. Won't you make a sincere effort to come to the meetings.

Don't stop going out to eat just because you are watching your calorie intake. Learn to select items on the menu that you can eat. All restaurants serve broiled fish, chicken or steak. Order baked potato instead of fries and leave off the heavy dressing on your salad—just ask for extra lemon.

FENTON

Tops 231 Fenton met July 7. Best weekly loser was Connie Cuevas. Linda McKay earned a charm for losing 50 pounds.

The Fenton chapter of Tops meets each Thursday from 6-7 p.m. with weigh-ins from 5:30-6 p.m. at the Fenton Community Center on Kiln-DeLisle Road.

Any person interested in weight control and would like to attend a free complimentary visit is invited to do so. For more information call Ollie Shiyou at 255-9385 or Linda McKay at 244-9863 after 4:30 p.m.

PASS CHRISTIAN

Tops 213 Pass Christian met July 12. Top loser for the week was Janet Wiggins. Reesie Ruspoli earned a charm for losing six weeks in a row. Vicki Arnold earned a charm for staying at or below goal for 24 weeks in a row. Theresa Peterson earned a charm for losing 10 pounds. Gwen Hogan earned a charm for reaching one half to goal status.

The club invites anyone interested in weight control to come visit. The meeting is held every Tuesday at the Pass Christian Library on Hiern Avenue between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Weigh-ins are between 5:30 and 6:30 p.m. For more information, call Gayle Arnold at 467-7198 or Jeannie Livings at 452-9706.

Harrison-Hancock Legal Secretaries Association

The Harrison-Hancock Legal Secretaries Association will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, July 14 at the Gulfport Best Western Inn on Highway 90 at 6:30 p.m.

Guest speakers include Scherry LeSier, Esq. and Mary Ladner, law librarian and paralegal, both of the law firm of Bryant, Stennis & Colingo, Gulfport.

Their presentation will include a game of 'Win, Lose or Draw,' where participants will be quizzed on law/legal terminology.

Those interested in finding out more about the association should contact Glenda Downs at 452-9408.

American Society of Women Accountants

The American Society of Women Accountants, Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter No. 110, will meet Tuesday evening, July 19 at the Western Sizzlin on Courthouse Road in Gulfport. Dinner will be at 6 p.m., program at 7 p.m., and business meeting at 8 p.m.

The program will be presented by Mr. Steve Theobald, CPA, with the firm Piltz, Williams, LaRosa and Co. The topic for the program is undecided at this time.

The meeting is open to the public, and all interested are invited to attend. We are a professional organization whose objectives are to encourage and assist those in the accounting field, to inform the public of the abilities and achievements of those in the accounting field, and to provide support to our members.

Six Bay residents appear in KNS' 'Wizard of Oz'

Six Bay St. Louis residents will perform on the stage of the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi July 22-24 when Kinetic Neo Skene Theatre presents "The Wizard of Oz."

The cast even includes three generations of the same Bay St. Louis family.

Glenda Coss, whose most recent appearance in this area was in the Waveland Players' production of "Greater Tuna," plays the wicked witch of the west. Her father, Noel Gillan, plays Dorothy Gale's Uncle Henry, while her seven-year-old daughter, Shay Coss, portrays a munchkin.

Two of Dorothy's companions on the way down the yellow brick road, the scarecrow and the lion, are being played by Bay residents.

Bill Burns, who has appeared in productions by several Gulf Coast area theatrical groups including Picayune Little Theatre, Riviera Productions, and most recently, Kinetic Neo Skene Theatre's "I've Heard that Song Before," will dance through the show as Dorothy's first friend, the scarecrow.

Martin Booda, who will play the Lion, returns to the stage after a year's absence from the coast. Booda has appeared in a number of local productions with the Waveland Players and Diamondhead Dinner Theatre. His most recent role was in Gulfport Little Theatre's June production, "Little Shop of Horrors."

Another local stage personality appearing in "Wizard of Oz" will be Ed Scanlan, who plays Lord Growlie, a resident of the emerald city. Scanlan has acted and directed with Diamondhead Dinner Theatre and Waveland Players, and is also known for designing sets for Mardi Gras balls and plays including this one. Scanlan's most recent role with Waveland Players was as the flamboyant evangelist in "Greater Tuna."

A seventh Bay resident, Gary Lamb, will be musical director for the production. Lamb's most recent show was "I've Heard that Song Before." In addition, he served as musical director for last year's Friends of the Saenger benefit, "Scrooge, the Musical," and for several Riviera Productions shows including "Evita."

The show's highlights will include many familiar songs, including "Over the Rainbow," which will be sung by Tina Johnston as Dorothy.

Curtain time for the Friday and Saturday night shows will be 8 p.m., with reserved seating. Tickets are $9 for adults and $5 for children.

The show will also be presented as a 2 p.m. matinee Saturday and Sunday. Seating will be general admission, with $6 tickets for adults and $5 tickets for children.

Tickets are available from the Saenger Theatre box office starting Monday and will be sold through Thursday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tickets will be available at the same location from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. Friday, as well as one hour before curtain time for each show.

Timberline

By Mark Jamieson
County Forester

Oaks are among our most popular ornamentals. These beautiful long-living trees grow under a wide variety of conditions, and their spreading crowns produce a cooling shade much appreciated on hot summer days. But they can attract a large number of bothersome pests. Among these are insect defoliators, borers, various diseases and mistletoe.

Defoliating insects are often considered a nuisance, because they degrade the appearance of trees, but repeated attacks can weaken and eventually kill them.

A large variety of wood and twig borers attack oak trees. They are a serious problem in commercial timberstands because they degrade the value of logs.

Some borers kill shade trees outright by girdling them as they feed on the cambium tissue. Twig borers cause unsightly damage to shade trees by killing limbs. Certain wood borers bore deep into the wood of the trees. They might not kill the tree outright, but they often weaken the trunks of smaller trees, making them subject to wind breakage.

Borer activity can be identified by the presence of holes or boring dust on the trunks or above-ground roots of oak trees. Spraying tree trunks with Lindane is an effective measure against most wood borers.

Oak trees are susceptible to many diseases, primarily fungal infections. A detailed discussion of these is beyond the scope of this column.

There are some things you can do to help your trees fight off infections. Maintaining tree vigor by fertilizing and watering during dry periods is important. Sanitation is also important. Disease- or insect-infested leaves and twigs should be raked up and destroyed as soon as possible. Avoid injuring the tree, for wood-rotting organisms can enter anywhere the bark is broken. All wounds should be covered with tree wound dressing.

With only a little care, your oak trees will continue to provide shade and beauty for many years.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee Taylor
Poisonous Grazing

Cattle will eat most anything, particularly when their pastures don't offer them much grass.

Pastures need to be scouted for poisonous plants, especially perilla mint. July is a good month to rid your pastures of this weed. Most cattle deaths occur in August and early September because the plant is particularly poisonous at that stage of growth.

Weedmaster, at rates of 1.5 to 2 pints, should give good control. You can also try several other herbicide mixtures to kill the weed. Come by the office for more information.

Saving Water

Outdoor watering uses more water than any household use. And with water in short supply this summer, we need to find areas where we can conserve our water use.

A half-inch garden hose can discharge 360 gallons of water per hour, and a three-fourths inch hose can discharge almost four times that rate per hour.

Use good management techniques when you water your lawn and outdoor plants. Overwatering a 5,000 square-foot lawn by only half-an-inch at least five times a year would waste nearly 8,000 gallons of water.

Lawns need water when they turn a gray-green color and show footprints after you have walked on them.

Eye Shields

Eyes are sensitive to most materials used for pesticides. Anytime there is a possibility of getting a chemical in your eyes, wear eye protection.

Use a face shield or chemical goggles to protect your eyes. Always do this when mixing formulations that carry Warning or Danger on the label.

House committee studying drought in Mississippi

JACKSON—Representative Curtis Holston of Poplarville is a member of a special House Agriculture Committee assigned to study the drought in Mississippi and explore ways to deal with it.

The select nine-member panel met recently at the State Capitol to gather data from all parts of the state regarding the June drought and receive testimony from state and federal officials. Representatives from private organizations involved in agriculture also participated.

Federal disaster assistance, crop insurance, and emergency farm loans were among the wide range of topics during the three-hour conference.

Dr. Duane Tucker, associate director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said the drought was costing the state's farm economy nearly $600 million through the end of June, including losses of almost $205 million on the 1988 cotton crop.

Committee members were in general agreement that much of the assistance needed by Mississippi's agricultural community must come from the federal level.

State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Buck Ross outlined some of the drought disaster programs available to farmers from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

David Graves, legislative assistant to Senator Thad Cochran, reviewed efforts of the Congressional Drought Task force to cope with what a National Weather Service official called "one of the worst droughts of the century."

Members of the study panel emphasized the purpose of the meeting was not to give false hopes to drought-stricken farmers, but to take a close-up look at timely and realistic proposals to help the situation.

The special committee was appointed by Representative

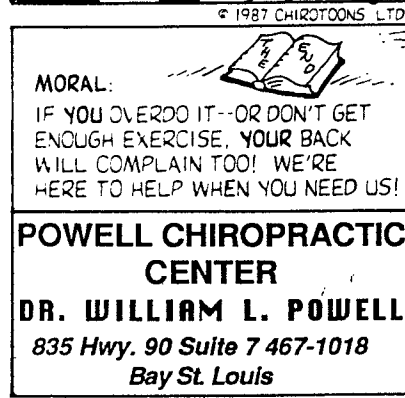

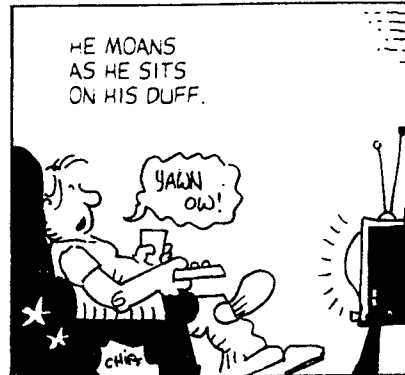

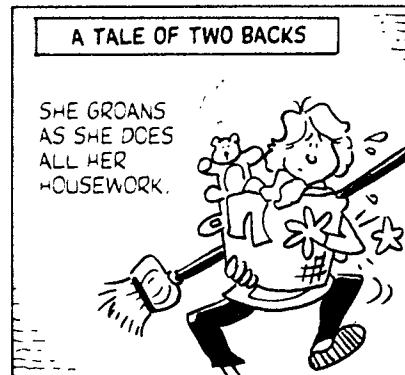

Steve Holland of Plantersville, chairman of the regular House Agriculture Committee. Holston is vice chairman of the Agriculture Committee.

Each member of the special committee is personally involved in agriculture.

Holston represents House District 106 in Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River and Stone counties.

In addition to Holston and Holland, the committee consists of Representatives Jimmy Green of Itta Bena, Bobby Mody of Louisville, Will Green Poindexter of Inverness, Bo Robinson of Hamilton, Morris Lee Scott of Hernando, Charles Waldrup of Drew, and Tommy Woods, Byhalia.

Basic guidelines offered to prevent hearing loss

Protect your hearing! That's the message from the Deafness Research Foundation, which says there are 22 million hearing impaired Americans—and the rate is rising at an "alarming rate."

"The present environment, particularly exposure to noise in the workplace and entertainment areas, mandates that Americans make a distinct effort to protect their hearing," says Dr. Walter A. Petryshyn, medical director of the Deafness Research Foundation.

Here are basic guidelines to avoid hearing loss, according to the Foundation:

*Don't listen to TV, radio or headsets with the volume high.

*Don't sit in front of the speakers at a rock concert. (The danger is immediate. At 120 decibels, the damage is severe and irreversible).

*Wear earplugs when operating or being exposed to power lawn mowers, jackhammers, pneumatic drills, chain saws or even vacuum cleaners, or when using firearms or piloting an airplane.

*Don't fly in airplanes when you have a cold.

*Ask your doctor about the side effects of some antibiotics relative to your hearing.

*Have periodic hearing tests for you and your children. But see a doctor if you:

—Suffer from dizziness, loss of balance or head noises.

—Fail to catch words or phrases.

—Can better understand people when you're facing them.

—Have a running ear, pain or irritation in the ear.

*Use dry-out drops after swimming, showering or shampooing.

The Deafness Research Foundation, founded in 1958 and based in Manhattan, is the largest non-profit health organization totally committed to directing public attention and support for basic and clinical research on the causes, treatment, and prevention of deafness and hearing disabilities.

Crushed yellowjackets summon wasps to attack

By Jessica Morrison
U.S. Dept. of Agriculture

Squashing that yellowjacket hovering over your fruit salad might make you feel better this summer, but it also might incite nearby yellowjackets into frenzied attack.

"So put down that sandal or rolled-up magazine," advises Peter J. Landolt, U.S. Department of Agriculture entomologist.

Landolt and chemist Robert R. Heath found that the venom of southern yellowjacket wasps contains a chemical - called the alarm pheromone - that signals nesting wasps nearby that defense is needed.

"If you smash a wasp," Landolt said, "its venom sac breaks and the alarm pheromone goes into the air. This can provoke guard wasps to come out and sting whoever or whatever gets in their way."

The pheromone, which is released by a stinging yellowjacket, signals fellow wasps on guard that an invader is being stung and that further defense is needed. "It's sort of like a policeman on patrol calling for back up," Landolt said.

Landolt and Heath, both of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, found and synthesized the alarm pheromone - the first wasp pheromone to be isolated that is known to provoke attack.

They used the new synthetic pheromone to infuriate wasps at the agency's Insect Attractants, Behavior and Basic Biology Research Laboratory in Gainesville, Fla.

The pheromone certainly evoked a response. "Three, four, five hundred attacking wasps came out of the nest and started stinging - a dangerous situation even in a bee suit," Landolt said. That's because many people are hypersensitive to wasp venom.

The farthest Landolt put the pheromone from wasps in his tests was 15 feet, and angry wasps still emerged.

In the first test, stinging lasted for three hours. "These wasps can keep stinging because they don't lose their stingers and die like honey bees," he said. When the scientists first realized how strongly wasps responded, they decided to study the behavior further.

'Roads' features modern opera, organ music and architecture

'Mississippi Roads' features a living legend of contemporary music, an old-fashioned theater pipe organ and a visual montage detailing architecture of the past in an encore broadcast Tuesday, July 26, at 7:30 p.m. on Mississippi ETV.

In the first segment, viewers are given a rare glimpse of genius when 'Roads' cameras follow composer Gian Carlo Menotti as he directs the Mississippi Opera in a February 13, 1988, performance of his work 'The Consul.' Viewers follow Menotti from his introduction at a news conference by Mississippi's First Lady Julie Mabius to the opera's final curtain. Along the way, the composer is seen buying fruit at a small local market, rehearsing the cast and tasting his first fried Mississippi catfish.

Franklin Choset, general manager of the Mississippi Opera, relates the value of working with this renowned composer. Dwight Coleman, cast as Assan in 'The Consul,' is instructor of voice and director of opera at the University of Mississippi. Coleman relates the impact of performing under the direction of Menotti on his teaching style. William Fulton, fine arts producer, Public Radio in Mississippi, discusses Menotti's career, style and his work 'The Consul.' Finally, viewers meet Luigi Zaninelli, composer in residence at the University of Southern Mississippi, who refers to Menotti as his 'musical father,' and recalls his years as Menotti's student.

Hattiesburg's Saenger Center is featured in the next segment.

ment of 'Roads.' Viewers visit the old theater, built in 1931, to hear a pipe organ played by organist David Duke. Duke gives a brief history of the organ and explains how it was built, including the drums, cymbals and tambores which are incorporated into the instrument. Duke performs 'Indian Love Song,' 'My Blue Heaven' and 'Five Foot Two' as viewers get a look at the renovated decor of the landmark theater.

The final segment of 'Mississippi Roads' is a video essay narrated by series producer Kent Bowlds which presents his reflections on 'The Past Around Us.' Based on the Faulkner quote, 'The past is never dead, it isn't even past,' the segment features architecture of the 1930s and 1960s around the Jackson area.

Spotlighted are the Hotel King Edward, the train depot and the Mayflower Cafe. Moving to Battlefield Park, Bowlds reflects upon children playing peacefully among the Civil War cannon.

Continuing its reflections of the past, 'Roads' then travels to Pochontas, a sleepy near-ghost town, to view a Tunica Indian mound built before recorded history.

In Pochontas viewers see crumbling buildings beside the railroad and recall through old photographs a more prosperous time when the town contained a post office, school and hotel.

Now only the thriving John's Country Store and the popular Big D's Bar-B-Que keep Pochontas from actually becoming the ghost town it resembles.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI COUNTY OF HANCOCK NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTION OF TRUSTEES SALE

WHEREAS, HAROLD J. ROMERO, became indebted to Leroy J. Necaise and Rita Besancon Necaise, as husband and wife, in order to secure the indebtedness executed and delivered on May 19, 1983, a Deed of Trust to Mrs. Joseph H. Bernhardt, Trustee for Leroy J. Necaise and Rita Besancon Necaise, as husband and wife, Beneficiaries, which Deed of Trust is recorded in Book 253 at Pages 275-276 of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land on file in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, on November 30, 1987, Rita Besancon Necaise, individually and on behalf of Leroy J. Necaise, deceased, executed and delivered for value that Assignment delivering to Mary Catherine Romero Lewis all of her right, title and interest in and to said Deed of Trust in the lands described therein, together with the indebtedness secured thereby, the principal amount. The instrument of Assignment is recorded in Book 313 at Pages 71-72 in the records on file in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, on December 21, 1987, Mary Catherine Romero Lewis, holder of said Deed of Trust, named and substituted Wendy L. Allard in place and stead of said Trustee, which substitution is recorded in Book 314 at Page 1 of the Trust Deed Records in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi;

WHEREAS, the said Deed of Trust provided that, in the event default is made in the payment of the secured indebtedness, an additional amount shall be added thereto as attorney's fees, and default has been made in the payment of the secured indebtedness, and Mary Catherine Romero Lewis has exercised the option provided in the Note evidencing the said indebtedness declaring the whole of the unpaid principal balance immediately due and payable, as well as attorney's fees; and

WHEREAS, the said Deed of Trust provides that, in the event of default, the Trustee shall, upon the request or demand of the Beneficiary, sell said property, as is provided in the said Deed of Trust; and

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the secured indebtedness and Mary Catherine Romero Lewis, the Beneficiary, has requested the undersigned Substituted Trustee to make foreclosure under said Deed of Trust. NOW, THEREFORE, I, Wendy L. Allard, do hereby give notice that I will, on Monday, July 18, 1988, during legal hours, at the front door of the Hancock County Courthouse, in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, offer for sale and sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash, the following described property in said Deed of Trust, said property being located in Hancock County, Mississippi, and more particularly described as follows:
